

My Thoughts

I was hesitant to write this because I respect law enforcement and the jobs they carry. I will be honest I expected better from Boca PD from the angle of interest in understanding exactly what is going on here. This is some predator level targeting I'm experiencing by wealthy individuals that think they are aloud to live above the law and run organized criminal targeting on someone. This is inline with the strategies that you hear from jeffery epistien to try to control people. The feeling i've had from Boca PD is that i'm the criminal for exposing it. This does not feel like it's there first rodeo they seem to have a great understanding of all the methods to use. When you fail to hold people accountable you are only opening the door for them to be emboldened to target more people. Speaking for myself I would rather my car be broken into 5 times out of the year then be targeted like this by people I don't even know, it's crazy. These people involved think because they have money that they can disregard others lives at will, no remorse for the effect of these actions. Also this has nothing to do with what I post on my site. How do I know? Because it started when it was still inactive. Failing to take action is what triggers decades of countless lives effected negatively because an order of justice for laws is not set.

If you follow the story it is clear that there is a patten of escalation that's occurring and not reducing. And only they can tell you the reason for these actions because I have no idea. What I can tell you is this has escalated from provoking me in common areas, to a nail in my tire, to following constantly, to spying, and now signal jamming. Aside from the organized targeting a signal jammer on it's own is highly illegal. If police enter the building and they turn it on the radios will go silent within the area of the device.

If the people who are actually responsible for this are found I believe you will be shocked to listen to the reasons they are even doing it in the first place. To majority of officers in the Boca PD I realize you can only do so much without leadership behind you. To the leadership within the Boca City Police and Boca Government I expected a better stance. I can see the extra police cars in my area and it is appreciated, but I believe actions of justice need to be made to help protect the community.

To the community that has taken interest in this story and showed support much love ♥ You the true Hero's
